

Novena Prayer - Marie of the Incarnation

Jesus said to Marie of the Incarnation:
-Love is my name, and from now on that is what I want you to call me.-

Day 1

“In His excessive Love, our Divine Master burns our hearts without consuming them. As a result of our misery, His action in us has not its full effect. The agent does not fail to do His part; our coldness opposes His Divine “touches” and prevents the soul from reaching that complete annihilation which surpasses all imaginable purifications. I never cease praying for you, and offering you on the sacred altar of the loving heart of Jesus to His Eternal father.”

–Letter 68 From Quebec. To her son 1 September 1643-

Marie of the Incarnation, Draw us near to you, help us to learn from you for we desire to follow your example, draw us into the heart of Jesus, quench the desire for His Divine Touch.

O Sacred Heart of Jesus, touch our hearts, embrace our hearts for we long for your Love and guidance. and remember...(my special intention)...

Reflection and music

-1. Sweet heart of Jesus-

Our Father... Hail Mary...Glory be...

Final Prayer :

Marie of the Incarnation, by you and with you, I praise the Lord God: Father, Son and Holy Spirit for the gaze of love He cast on you. You who from childhood knew to say “YES” to “WILL YOU BE MINE” and who said “YES” throughout your life to the successive calls of the Incarnate Word, teach us, like you to consent tirelessly to the adorable WILL OF THE FATHER.

May our daily consent, posed in the cup of offering, become, in Jesus, a springhead of life and salvation for all our brothers and sisters for the glory of the Blessed Trinity. Amen.

Day 2

“Would it not be uncivil to refuse to answer and speak to Him to win his Heart and captivate His Infinite Goodness that longs to communicate itself to his friends. If you do not respond to his interior prompting, you have to account for it to him that loves only to be loved and that wants from us a return of communication and fidelity.”

-Letter 127 From Quebec To one of her sisters. 13 August 1650-

Marie of the Incarnation, your loving conversation with God through His Most Loving Son urges us to open our hearts to welcome God for heart-to-heart communication with Him. We long to love Him and to be loved and renewed by His power of Love.

O Sacred Heart of Jesus, you come to the world to embrace our heart. Make me the channel of your love. Make us missionaries of your Love. Help us to share your unending love wherever you send us to and remember...(my special intention)...

Reflection and music

-2. Sacred Heart of Jesus meek and mild-

Our Father... Hail Mary...Glory be...

Final Prayer :

Marie of the Incarnation, by you and with you, I praise the Lord God: Father, Son and Holy Spirit for the gaze of love He cast on you. You who from childhood knew to say “YES” to “WILL YOU BE MINE” and who said “YES” throughout your life to the successive calls of the Incarnate Word, teach us, like you to consent tirelessly to the adorable WILL OF THE FATHER.

May our daily consent, posed in the cup of offering, become, in Jesus, a springhead of life and salvation for all our brothers and sisters for the glory of the Blessed Trinity. Amen.

Day 3

“A soul that loves Jesus must always have one eye fixed on Him and the other on herself and her own lowliness. That is to say that our union with God, if it is real, far from making us close our eyes to our own unworthiness, opens them according as we approach this incomprehensible purity. It helps us see clearly our weakness and infirmity and this is how we become abject and humble our own eyes.”

-Letter 101 From Quebec to her niece Mother Mary, Ursuline, Tours.
October 1646-

Marie of the Incarnation, nothing is more practical than finding God and falling in love with Him. When we lose our focus, lead and guide us to fix our sight on the Sweet Heart of Jesus, to refocus and to be attentive to His whisper in the quiet breezes.

O Sacred Heart of Jesus, come to embrace our hearts, for we long to stay in love, soak in love, and never cease to show our love to you. In your Most Loving Heart I place...(my special intention)...

Day 4

“I often thought of the caresses our Lord had given me during my childhood. The remembrance of these led me to desire to be entirely His, and I sighed only for holy commerce with Him and strove to make use of those means which, in the light of my lowly judgement, it seemed would serve for this end. I’ve often had this inclination since the time of that first grace. I remember that, sometime after I’d received it, I was drawn on by my sentiments of the goodness of God, who listens to those who pray to Him with affection, to go the church and with draw to a secluded spot so as not to be seen. There I remained for part of the day, my heart ardently longing for such converse with God. See how the Divine Goodness willed gently to dispose me, had I been very faithful to him from the beginning of His operations in my soul.”

Although I’d never been instructed about mental prayer and mortification-in fact, I didn’t even know the terms- He taught me the substance of both causing me to experience the one and to practice the other. I understood this truth with certainty, and the insight into it that was granted me was a proximate preparation for seeing it actualized in myself. At that moment this most adorable Person took possession of my soul and, embracing it with an inexplicable love, united it to Himself and took me for His bride.”
